But for thy world enioying but this land,
Is it not more then ſhame to ſhame it ſo?
Land-lord of England art thou now not, not King,
Thy ſtate of law is bondſlaue to the law,
And thou.

King. Ah lunaticke leane-witted foole,
Preſuming on an Agues priuiledge,
Dareſt vvith thy frozen admonition
Make pale our cheeke, chaſing the royall blood
With furie from his natiue reſidence.
Novv by my Seates right royall maieſtie
Wert thou not brother to great Edwards ſonne,
This tongue that runnes ſo roundly in thy head,
Should runne thy head from thy vnreuerent ſhoulders.

Gaunt. Oh ſpare me not my brother Edwards ſonne,
For that I was his father Edwards ſonne:
That blood already, like the Pellican,
Haſt thou tapt and drunkenly carowſt:
My brother Gloceſter, plaine well meaning ſoule,
Whom faire befall in heauen mongſt happy ſoules,
May be a preſident and witnes good,
That thou reſpectſt not ſpilling Edwards blood.
Ioyne with the preſent ſicknes that I haue,
And thy vnkindnes be like crooked age,
To crop at once a too long withered flower.
Liue in thy ſhame, but die not ſhame vvith thee:
Theſe Wordes hereafter, thy tormentors be:
Conuay me to my bed, then to my graue,
Loue they to liue, that loue and honour haue.

Exit.

King. And let them die, that age and ſullens haue,
For both haſt thou, and both become the graue.

Yorke. I do beſeech your Maieſtie impute his words
To wayward ſicklynes and age in him:
He loues you on my life, and holdes you deere,
As Harry Duke of Herford, were he heere.

King. Right, you ſay true; as Herfords loue, ſo his:
As theirs, ſo mine, and be as it is.

North.
